The Spec Youth Movement in New England

The summer months in Boston are a perfect time for school- and college-aged kids to try Spec Tennis. At a special children's day at Longwood Cricket Club, America's original tennis club, Dave Fish, Spec Tennis Ambassador and former Harvard men's varsity coach, captured this rally with a barefoot youngster on the club's highly revered grass courts. At a Sunday Boston Metro Spec Tennis Club round robin, Dorra Guermazi (former Newton South girl's team tennis captain and #1 singles player and student at Brown University) and her younger sister Manel, a sectionally ranked 12 and under, teamed up for a big smash. From these photos, it is easy to see that Spec Tennis brings out the best in kids of all ages.

SPEC TENNIS ON PICKLEBALL COURT

There's a new sport you can play on a pickleball court called Spec Tennis. Using an orange dot low compression tennis ball and 18 inch perforated paddle, Spec Tennis can be used to cross-train for tennis but also as a very fun and social sport with less of a learning curve than regular tennis.

Florida Tennis Magazine recently included a blurb about Spec in their latest issue. They plan on having a full article on Spec Tennis in each issue going forward.
